Residential Parks Act 2026
Act No. of 2026

(3) A park owner may not exercise the right to terminate an agreement on a ground specified in subsection (1) unless the park owner has first offered the resident – to be entered into in substitution for the residential park agreement that is being terminated and an agreement to relocate the resident to that site at the expense of the park owner (and the proposed new residential park agreement must constitute a reasonable offer in the circumstances); or

(b) an agreement for the purchase, by the park owner, of a dwelling owned by the resident on termination of the residential park agreement; or

(c) an agreement for the relocation, at the expense of the park owner, of a dwelling owned by the resident on termination of the residential park agreement –
